deal briefly in just a few statistics to portray this leadership a little more vividly. More than half of the young men enrolled in high school today are boys with Scout training. Fifty-five per cent of all the college and university students are Scout trained. Seventy-five per cent of the leaders of student activities in those educational institutions are former Scouts. These Scout trained young men hold sixty per cent of the Rhodes scholarships. Sixty-two per cent of those enrolled at West Point and sixty-eight per cent at the Naval Academy are former Scouts. Seventy-eight per cent of the captains of the varsity athletic teams in the United States are boys who had training in the Boy Scouts of America. Without a doubt Scouting is developing an intelligent leadership in this country.

Today we hear of the alarming growth of juvenile delinquency. Every newspaper we read—every news commentator we listen to—tells of young men who have been caught in America's crime wave. While national statistics are not available, it is reasonable to assume that these young men who appear regularly in our juvenile courts—did not have the training made available through the Boy Scouts of America. They had never stood in Scout formation with right hand raised and taken the Scout Oath.

In this important problem of preventing juvenile delinquency in America, the Scouts have done a real job. In the larger cities Scout troops have been organized in areas reporting excessive juvenile delinquency trends. Records at the National Council of the Boy Scouts show that, where such troops have been placed in operation, a consistent reduction in juvenile crime has resulted.

Let's look at the problem in terms of dollars and cents! The approximate annual cost, to the taxpayer of America, to handle one juvenile delinquent is $500. The approximate annual cost of carrying a boy in the Scouting program is $10. There is your answer.

Mr. Donner then proceeded to tell how delinquency is curbed in many places by the development of the Scout movement. He then concluded with, "It is therefore an honor to present this Troop of Scouts something every Legionnaire has loved and served; the flag of our country; well knowing that you Scouts will likewise serve and revere it and the things for which it stands. Hoping and praying that you may never be called upon to defend it on the field of battle, but that if such is necessary, as loyal Americans and good citizens, each of you would do his part to defend it."

always have a satisfactory outlet for his excess funds," Wells said, "since he automatically would receive a fair rate of interest on his average balance over that required by law."

"He would not have to enter the security market and accept the risks involved in buying bonds. These risks would be assumed by the 12 member federal reserve banks which would be compensated through the difference between the yield and the interest paid on excess reserves."

John H. Lucas, vice-president of the people's Pittsburgh Trust Co., blamed bankers for tardiness in realizing the value of consumer credit. He said banks now are suffering because they feared to enter the small loan field now aiding personal finance companies to make big profits yearly.

Other speakers yesterday were Robert H. Myers, vice-president of the Merchants National Bank and Trust Co., of Muncie; Prof. H. C. Saubain of the School of Business at Indiana University, and Charles B. Dunn, general counsel for the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago.

Roosevelt Leaves For The Southland

WARTIME CENSORSHIP IMPOSED ON MOVEMENTS OF PRESIDENT TODAY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—(UP)—President Roosevelt imposed conditions of war-time secrecy today as he prepared to entrain for an undesignated seaport and board an anonymous war vessel for a 10-day cruise "somewhere in the South."

Mystery surrounding the cruise suggested the possibility that Mr. Roosevelt might extend the fishing trip to neutrality patrol vessels keeping watch along the southeastern or gulf seaboard.

At White House orders, absolute secrecy was maintained around his plans. Virtually the entire entourage which will entrain with Mr. Roosevelt, including secretaries, secret service men, and newspapermen, was kept in absolute ignorance as to where he would embark, where he would go, and exactly how long he might stay.

Mr. Roosevelt described his trip as a fishing cruise to require about 10 days. But the secrecy surrounding today's departure had no precedent in other spring fishing trips he has made.

In announcing he will leave today, Mr. Roosevelt presented no explanation. He said merely that he could not say at what port he would board the vessel, and added that limited accommodations aboard will permit only three newspapermen—representatives of the three major press associations—to accompany him.

FINNS FIGHT FOR LIFE

It was the Russian idea to advance as close as possible to the main Finnish line and then to dig in, behind iron shields, in an attempt to consolidate. To this the Finns countered with swift rushes from their trenches, using first hand grenades and then the knives in pitiless fighting. By this they had preserved their line intact, dispatches indicated.

But it was not only the Summa sector that was threatened. The Russians were trying at the same time to flank the Mannerheim line from the east in the Taupale river sector at Lake Ladoga, and to subdue the Kolvisto Island ports in the Gulf of Finland to which the Finnish right wing was anchored.

Finnish headquarters here, in a statement issued at a special press conference last night, estimated that the Russians had lost not only from 30,000 to 40,000 men in 12 days of fighting but that they had lost 200 tanks, including one of 70 tons.

This statement said that the Finnish lines were still intact even though fighting was now more intense than any since the World war.

What the statement called the miracle of Summa had been accomplished, it was said, against the heaviest arms on an 11 mile front. It was asserted that the Russians had thrown as many as 300,000 shells a day into this sector.

(A check back to Helsinki resulted in confirmation of this figure, which is correct would be amazing.)

The spokesman who read the statement ended with a personal appeal for foreign nations to help Finland against the overwhelming military power of the Russians, "which has enabled them to send fresh assaults incessantly into the Finnish lines even though their dead heaped in no man's land."

Seventeen Russian planes, 15 of them bombers, flew over Porvoo, 30 miles east of Helsinki, from the north yesterday and left a trail of fire behind them. I reached Porvoo at 9 o'clock last night to see the result and found fires burning, or burning out, in 28 houses on the main street. The flames lit the sky for miles around.

LARGE BARN BURNS

The large barn and its contents on Ernest Miller's farm which is on the Putnam county side of the line between Putnam and Hendricks counties, a mile and a half north of Coatesville, burned down Tuesday evening, the fire starting about 6 o'clock.

Included in the loss were two calves, a dozen pigs, a new hammer mill, and much other valuable property.

Mr. Miller had just brought the hammer mill into the barn, after he had used the mill at another place, and had left it inside one end of the structure, he was going up into the hay mow to throw down stock feed.

When he descended from the mow, he found the end of the barn adjoining the mill in flames, and they spread with great rapidity to the remainder of the building. It was nothing but a heap of smoking debris an hour after the fire started. It is thought possible it started from the electric equipment of the hammer mill. Mr. Miller had insurance.

BERLIN'S IDEAS
BERLIN, Feb. 14.—(UP)—German submarines have a "theoretical right" to torpedo United States ships enroute to allied ports or contraband control bases, either voluntarily or by compulsion, an authorized Nazi source said today.

Whether such torpedoings would occur, the source said, would depend on individual circumstances.
The new German attitude threatened to involve the United States, already aroused over British inspection of United States mails to neutral countries, in a new dispute over the rules of warfare on the high seas.
The Germans said that under their interpretation, any ship even if carrying cargo intended for Germany, could lose its neutrality and be regarded as hostile if voluntarily or by compulsion it should put into an allied harbor or contraband control base.
The exposition of the German attitude was made in the course of comment on the sinking last Saturday of the Holland-American line steamship Burgerdijk, 6,000 tons, which was torpedoed by a German U-boat 60 miles south of Bishop's Rock, the entrance to the English Channel.
At the time, an authorized Nazi source said, the Burgerdijk was enroute to the British contraband control base in the Downs, off Dover, Eng., and therefore was regarded by the Germans as having lost its neutrality.

U. S. NAVY IS FOCAL CENTER OF CONGRESS

HOUSE NAVAL AFFAIRS COMMITTEE MAKES PROPOSAL OF INCREASE

CONGRESS APPROVAL NEEDED
Controversy as to Desirability of Building Super Ships Being Debated

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—(UP)—The U. S. Navy—the nation's first line of defense—held the center of the Congressional stage today as legislators concentrated on measures to bolster the battle force in the face of Europe's war.

The House naval affairs committee today reports a $654,902,270 bill which would authorize the navy to boost its strength—when, if and as Congress provides the funds—by 19 per cent.

The authorization proposal carries no funds and must be approved by both Houses of Congress before becoming effective. However, it is recommended as the House enters the second day of debate on the navy's money bill for the 1941 fiscal year.

This appropriation measure is a peace-time record-breaker. Although cut $111,700,000 below President Roosevelt's recommendations, it carries a total of $966,772,878—funds for 49 new fighting ships, including a start on two more 45,000-ton super-dreadnaughts, and 352 naval airplanes.

The expansion authorization would add 167,000 tons of fighting ships to the navy's total. This comprises 21 warships, none of them battleships. This number is the total which the navy said the nation's private and government shipyards could accommodate in the next two years.

The bill originally projected a 25 per cent, 400,000-ton fleet increase to be laid down over six years at a cost of $1,300,000,000 but was whittled to a two year program by the committee.

The increase, huge as it is, will fall considerably short of carrying out the New Deal policy of maintaining a navy second to none.

It will not even give the United States a navy as big as that it possessed after the World War before the arms limitations treaties caused the navy to scrap warships then in construction.

The world arms race initiated with the expiration of the naval limitation treaties has upset the 5-5-3 naval ratio they established. The United States has fallen behind Great Britain and Japan has gained on the United States.

At present Great Britain has 2,053,229 tons of fighting ships, including "under age" or modern vessels, "over age" or less efficient ships, and warships now building or appropriated for. The United States navy totals 1,727,202 tons in the same categories.

This is a ratio of 5.94 for Great Britain to 5 for the United States. A similar comparison of existing strength gives Japan a ratio of 3.42 with the United States, France a ratio of 2.32, Italy 2.06, Germany 1.5, and Russia 1.39.

Comparing strictly modern fighting strength, but including new vessels actually being constructed, the disparity between the United States and Great Britain is even greater. Figuring the United States navy's 1,472,065 tons as 5, Great Britain's 1,847,999 tons would give her a ratio of 6.28.

The authorization bill carries no provision for more battleships. However, if the pending appropriations bill is approved by Congress the navy will have 10 battleships appropriated for, including four 45,000 ton super dreadnaughts the equal of anything afloat. At present the navy has 14 modern battleships. President Roosevelt criticized the House appropriations committee for providing only $1,500,000 to start the final phase of 45,000-tonners. He said he hoped the Senate would vote enough funds so keels of the craft can be laid.

The tonnage increases of the bill are confined to three categories—aircraft carriers, cruisers and submarines. Although 21 ships are contemplated, including three aircraft carriers, the navy will have discretion in distributing the tonnage. Testimony during hearings on the bill indicated the navy is considering building fewer and bigger cruisers—perhaps 20,000 tonners in the battle cruiser category.

The bill also would authorize 22 naval auxiliaries, and increase the navy's minimum air strength from 3,000 to 4,500 planes.

FOUNDERS WEEK WILL BE OBSERVED BY A&P STORES

The founder of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company, George Huntington Hartford, who created the modern retailing method of direct buying and straight-line, mass distribution, is being honored by all A&P stores during Founder's Week, Feb. 12-19.

Retailing principles established by Mr. Hartford when he opened the first red-fronted A&P store in 1859, company officials pointed out, are used today by countless chain and independent merchants as the means of providing greater savings to consumers.

A young man from Maine, Mr. Hartford entered the retailing field in New York City, where he was impressed by the prevailing high price of tea. He believed that by purchasing tea direct, and retailing through his own store, he could materially reduce the price from the prevailing scale of a dollar and more per pound.

Mr. Hartford's first store, located on Vesey Street in lower New York, offered its customers striking savings on their tea purchases, and was an immediate success. Applying the same principles of direct buying and quick turn-over of large volume at small profit, he opened additional units and added other groceries to his stock.

Voncaste
Filmed in a tropical atmosphere complete to an amazing Hollywood jungle, "Congo Maisie" comes to the Voncaste Theatre tonight for a two day showing with Ann "Maisie" Sothern in the title role.

The opening scene presents a medical center deep in the African jungle. Grass huts, tropical shrubs, and dense trees surround the center building which houses the white man's magic against disease and death. It is at the medical center where a greater part of the drama occurs.

Another set is a shabby hotel room, where E. E. Olive is the landlord and Miss Sothern makes her second appearance as the stranded showgirl, Maisie, down on her luck, but with her fighting spirit at top peak.

Opposite Miss Sothern, as a renegade doctor, is John Carroll in his first featured role for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Chateau

"Meet Doctor Christian," the first in a projected new series of films starring Jean Hersholt, and based on the famous "Doctor Christian" radio serial, comes to the Chateau Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday with an outstanding cast featuring Dorothy Lovett, Robert Baldwin, Enid Bennett and Paul Harvey.

The new film drama concerns the humanitarian ideals of a small town doctor and the obstacles he encounters when trying to benefit his fellow citizens.

The efforts of Dr. Christian to get a much-needed hospital for the town of River's End, and his struggle to arouse the town to its real necessities are said to provide heart-warming entertainment, and also to find their counterpart in real-life happenings in rural America.

BOSS RULE ENDS

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 14—(UP)—The city rules 16 years by boss Tom Pendergast's Democratic machine has voted itself a new deal in government.

By a vote of 95,130 to 17,118, it was decided yesterday to reduce from four to two years the terms of Mayor Charles Keltn, the eight councilmen and the two municipal judges, most of whom owe their jobs to the machine, and to hold an election April 2, to name their successors.

The Pendergast crowd, whose boss has been imprisoned for Federal income tax violation and which now takes orders from James M. Pendergast, the boss' nephew, supported this amendment to the city charter. Some said they did it so they could rally their beleaguered forces in April behind a ticket acceptable to business men that would also maintain a vestige of control at city hall. Anti-Pendergast reform leaders said they did it "because they know they're licked."

State Troopers Battle With Mob

RESCUE TWO NEGRO WOMEN
AFTER MOB TAKES THEM FROM JAIL

STOCKTON, Md., Feb. 14 (UP)—State troopers patrolled Maryland's eastern shore today after a snow with a mob which stormed the Snow Hill jail and removed two negro women.

The detachment of 25 troopers took the women from the mob, which apparently was bent on lynching them, after a brisk battle one trooper was clubbed on the head and a member of the mob shot in the leg.

The battle occurred on a road near here where the troopers overtook the mob of 250 men after a 12-mile automobile chase from Snow Hill. The women, Martha Blake, 32, and her daughter, Lillian, 14, were taken to an undisclosed jail for safekeeping.

Sheriff J. W. Hall of Worcester county said the women were held as witnesses to the slaying Sunday night of Harvey Pilchard, 6-year-old farmer, and the wounding of his wife, allegedly by Dave Collick, a negro.

While troopers rode the highways to prevent reassembly of the mob, county police officers with bloodhounds searched swamplands of the eastern shore of Collick. A posse of farmers also sought the negro.

The mob formed about the Snow Hill jail shortly before midnight last night and demanded George Selby, another negro who, according to Sheriff Hall, was being held as a witness.

It's the Early Bird that gets the Fun

The model illustrated is the BUICK SUPER model 51 four-door touring sedan $1109 delivered at Flint, Mich. White sidewall tires additional.*

ONE of these days the itch is going to hit you to get out and get in on the fun a Buick can be in the spring-time.

You're going to feel an irrepressible yen to touch off that husky, sweet-singing Dynaflex power plant and swing out in gentle coil-spring comfort to take in the fresh spring landscape.

Maybe, like others we know of, you've even got the model picked out, and are just "waiting a few weeks" to do something definite about it.

But may we emphasize, in purely friendly interest, that a lot of other people probably have the same idea.

And that when they start buying in droves—as they do every year about the idea of March—even Buick's big factory has trouble keeping up with them.
